PRESIDENT’S MESSAGE
By John J. McTighe

I want to welcome all the new members who have joined us since the beginning of the year. In addition, we should be seeing an influx of new members this month from many of those county employees who retired at the end of March to benefit from this year’s SDCERA 2% cost of living adjustment (COLA). If you fit into that category I want to let you know that you’ve made a great decision to join RESDC along with your fellow retirees. We are San Diego’s largest organization of retired county employees and the only one that is recognized by SDCERA as representing retired county workers. We take that responsibility seriously. As I’ve mentioned before in this space, advocating on behalf of our members is our number one responsibility. At the same time, we are about having fun and providing educational and social activities for our members.

In February, we held a general membership meeting in Escondido at the newly rebranded senior center. We had a great two-part program that featured a presentation about the AARP Foundation-funded Experience Corps operated locally by the Children’s Initiative. The Experience Corps provides much needed reading tutoring services to children (Continued on Page 6)

AFFORDABLE CARE ACT REDO
By Stan Coombs, Director

This article is an upgraded redo! In June 2013, a NETWORK article entitled “The Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act” (ACA), listed provisions of that 2010 federal legislation, more commonly called “Obamacare.” It was to be implemented over eight years, and affected all residents of the United States.

National events since then have overtaken us. The ACA is on the brink of major congressional revisions, maybe complete repeal, and that’ll be messy because of complicated health, social, economic and philosophical issues that affect fiercely opposing political interests.

It’s time to describe the ACA again, so readers can track the fate of their most and least favored provisions. “You can’t follow the game without a program.” Some original provisions were indefinitely delayed, and to the extent possible those instances are noted. The original ACA included:

Scheduled for 2010 – The ACA established minimum standards for health insurance policies, and prohibited lifetime limits on coverage, rejection for pre-existing conditions and cancelation due to illness. Premiums for elderly were limited to three times minimum premiums. Parent’s policies were required to cover children until age 26. Physicians were prohibited from sending patients to hospitals they own. Five billion dollars was provided for coverage of eligible, high-risk individuals and $250 rebates to Medicare Part D enrollees affected by the “donut hole.” Drug manufacturers were limited to 12 years of exclusivity before generics allowed. Tax credits, to 35% of small business employee health costs were provided, and a 10% tax on indoor tanning imposed.

Scheduled for 2011 – Insurers were required to spend 80% to 85% of premiums on health costs and claims, or rebate the difference to policyholders, and required to announce rate change proposals in excess of 10%. State rate reviews were enhanced. Drug manufacturers were required to provide a 50% discount on brand name prescriptions filled in the “donut hole,” and a 75% discount on drugs was to be subsidized by 2020. Pharmaceutical industry fees on brand name drugs used in government health programs was imposed, and taxes on health savings account withdrawals before age 65 were increased from 10% to 20%.

Scheduled for 2012 – Insurance plans were required to cover preventive services, including mammograms, colonoscopies, contraceptive screenings and counseling. Federal benchmark payments to Medicare Advantage plans were reduced.

Scheduled for 2013 – Hospital readmission reduction programs were required, including basing payments to providers on quality of care, and reducing payments to hospitals with excess readmissions due to complications. Standardized paperwork required of insurance companies, allowing comparisons between health plans. A legal exception allowing religious organizations to avoid providing employees contraceptive services was removed. Pre-tax contributions to healthcare flexible spending accounts were capped at $2,500/year, a 2.3% excise tax was levied on non-over-the-counter medical devices (indefinitely delayed), the income threshold for medical tax deductions was increased from 7% to 10%, through 2016. The Medicare tax was increased .9% on wages and 3.9% on unearned income, with no cap for filers with $200,000 and $250,000 adjusted gross income. Medicaid payments to physicians for primary care below the rates effective in 2013 and 2014 was prohibited, and federal funding was provided.

Scheduled for 2014 – Individuals were required to have minimum essential health insurance coverage, or pay penalties of $285 per family, or 1% of income, rising to $2,085, or 2.5% of income in 2016. Businesses were required to provide acceptable health care or be penalized up to $2,000 per full time employee for employers with more than 50 employees. State-based health insurance exchanges for individuals, and businesses with less than 100 employees, were mandated. Individuals with household incomes between 133% and 400% of the poverty line could enroll through the exchanges, with subsidies provided on a sliding scale, with cost caps of 2% of income up to 133% of the federal poverty level, and up to 9.5% for incomes to 400%. Delays beyond 90 days for group eligibility were prohibited. Insurers were subjected to a new excise tax, based on market share, ultimately indexed to medical cost growth.

Scheduled for 2015 – Higher Medicare fees were allowed for physicians providing higher quality, lower cost care.

PENSION FACTS
AMERICANS VERY WORRIED ABOUT LIFE AFTER WORK
By Chris Heiserman, Director

Outside our realm of public sector employees and retirees, most Americans feel that a secure, adequate retirement at the end of a working career is a distant, almost unattainable dream. A national savings "crisis" is well documented in report after report that describes the average amount salted away in 401(k) accounts as woefully short of providing a satisfactory income stream in retirement.

Then there are the millions of private sector workers (an estimated 6.8 million in California) who don't even have access to a 401(k) savings account where they work. These citizens and voters were dealt a blow by federal elected officials recently when Congress moved to block innovative programs in several states designed to provide a voluntary savings mechanism to workers in small businesses with no retirement plan at all.

These politicians should read a recent national survey of 800 people age 25 and older polled by phone since the 2016 election. In this survey conducted for the National Institute on Retirement Security (NIRS), 75% of respondents supported such workplace savings options.

Key findings in the survey report, "Retirement Security 2017 - Americans' Views of the Retirement Crisis," are very telling and consistent with a general feeling of apprehension about retirement prospects. Some 88% of Americans apparently agree that the nation faces a retirement crisis. The report said, "To ensure a secure retirement, three-fourths of Americans plan to work longer and spend less in retirement."

Even though the country is seriously politically divided on many issues, support for state-sponsored savings plans was fairly bipartisan. These savings options were favored by 83% of Democrats polled and 72% of Republicans. In addition, 80% of those surveyed said the average worker cannot save enough on their own for a secure retirement (this response was up from 73% in a 2015 report).

The report said that 82% of Americans have a favorable view of traditional pensions and 85% feel all workers should have access to a pension plan so they can be independent and self-sufficient when they stop working.

A large majority of Americans (85%) also believe leaders in Washington, D.C. don't understand the challenges people face in preparing for retirement. And 88% said making sure Americans have a secure retirement should be a higher priority for Congress and other federal leaders in Washington.

Americans strongly support public sector pensions and see them as a significant tool for recruitment and retention of public service workers. Respondents especially support pensions for police and firefighters (90%) and for teachers (81%). Those surveyed said these benefits are deserved because public employees contribute to the cost of their pensions in every paycheck.

GENERAL MEMBERSHIP MEETING
APRIL 18, 2017
12:00 NOON
Serra Mesa-Kearny Mesa Library
9005 Aero Drive, San Diego, 92123

Jill Swaim, Road Scholar Ambassador and Group Leader, will be one of our speakers at the April General Membership Meeting. She taught many grades from preschool through college and spent time at a Fine and Performing Arts magnet school. She worked as the AVID Coordinator at the Ventura County Office of Education at the end of her career in education. She became interested in travel when she became a teacher, as those vacation days provided wonderful opportunities to see the country and the world. She has been with Road Scholar for 13 years as a Group Leader and served as a volunteer Ambassador over the last four years.

Wouldn't you love to travel? At the April General Membership Meeting Jill will give a history of the Elderhostel Program which is now called Road Scholar.

For 40 years, Road Scholar programs, (until 2010 known by the organization’s official name, Elderhostel) have expanded to encompass an extraordinary range of subjects and locations in every state of the U.S., the provinces of Canada, 150 countries around the world, and aboard vessels that transverse rivers and seas. Road Scholar offers programs in almost every area of interest. Whether you enjoy hiking through the Grand Canyon, birding in Costa Rica, or rebuilding homes on the Gulf Coast—there is something for everyone. Come to hear about these programs that attract many people who never want to stop learning.

Our other presenter at this General Membership Meeting will be Larissa Wilmert from Lopez and Wilmert, LLP. Larissa will speak about the benefits of a living trust estate plan. Estate planning is not just for the people you will one day leave behind, but is also to make sure that if you are ever unable to make decisions for yourself, the people whom you designate to take care of you have the legal authority to do so without long and expensive court proceedings.

We hope to see many of you at this informative meeting on April 18th. RSVP requested but not required: online at http://www.resdc.net/resdc-events/ or by calling the RESDC office at (619) 688-9229.

BITS AND PIECES

Nancy Watson Evans retired from In Home Supportive Services (a division of HHSA) in 2000 as a Social Worker. She celebrated her 80th birthday in December! Her children had a surprise party for her with over 60 people in attendance. Nancy’s former coworker, Judy Benson, attended the party. Also in December, Nancy and her husband, Jack, flew to Hawaii to attend the 75th anniversary of the attack on pearl harbor. Jack is a Pearl Harbor survivor. Several of their family members were able to join them in Hawaii.

Edwin Kues retired from Probation in 1992. He celebrated his 88th birthday last month! Edwin and his wife, Yukiko, will celebrate their 62nd wedding anniversary in June!

Susan Thompson worked for Social Services for 14 years and retired in 1984. She turned 85 in March! After retirement, she moved back to her small town in South Dakota, and worked as a classroom assistant for many years with the school system. She retired again a few years ago with plans to spend her remaining years traveling. She visits family members in San Diego at least once a year.

2017 SDCERA COLA

At the February SDCERA Board of Retirement meeting, the Board approved staff’s recommendation for a 2.0% Cost-of-Living Adjustment effective April 2017. The actual cost-of-living adjustment is dependent on tier and date of retirement. For more information, visit: sdcera.com/board_retirement_meeting_agenda.htm

Happy Spring!
from kindergarten to third grade. We heard very sobering statistics about the poor reading levels of many children today and how Experience Corps senior volunteers provide critically needed assistance to help struggling children improve their reading skills so they can develop a foundation for later success in school and life.

The second part of our program featured RESDC’s own Technology Manager, Liz Silverman, walking us through a tutorial on social media. Liz helped us understand what social media is and how it can be used. She expertly exposed us to terminology and several do’s and don’ts when using Facebook and Twitter. This was an extremely helpful presentation for our members who have not had firsthand experience with social media and might want to dip their toes in the water. We will repeat this program in the future for our members who live in other parts of the county.

2019 may seem a long way off, but our Executive Director Mark Nanzer and I are in the early stages of scouting a location to host the statewide California Retired County Employees Association’s (CRCEA) biannual conference that will be held in April of that year. CRCEA is the statewide association of organizations like RESDC that represent the retired employees in the 20 counties that are governed by the County Employees Retirement Act of 1937, sometimes referred to as the 37 Act. Currently, Skip Murphy, the elected retiree representative on the SDCERA Board, is President, and Carlos Gonzalez from our own RESDC Board is Treasurer of CRCEA. Conferences alternate between Northern and Southern California and beyond and rotate among the larger member counties. Our turn to host is coming up in April 2019. I will keep you updated as we get closer, but if you are the type who likes to help with hospitality and think you might want to volunteer to be part of the host committee, we’d love to hear from you. Please let Mark Nanzer or Karen Hazel at our office know you’d like to volunteer and they’ll put you on the list to be contacted as we get closer to the conference date.

This past month, RESDC had a first of its kind event with our RESDC Evening at the Theatre. We had 32 members attend a showing of On the 20th Century at the Cygnet Theatre in Old Town. Members had a great time and left the theater laughing. This is just one of the opportunities we have for our members to get together in a social setting. Over the past year, we’ve had the Flag Day and Holiday Luncheons, the Health Fair Picnic, Coming Home to the COC, a RESDC Day at the Padres, and RESDC Day at the Races. Your Board of Directors and staff are always looking for ways we can serve our members with opportunities to mix and have an enjoyable time. Please let me or Mark know of ideas you may have to add to the events we can sponsor that would be appealing to members. Also, don’t forget that one of your benefits of being a RESDC member is access to Recreation Connection which provides discount admissions to attractions and events throughout Southern California.

To access your discounts, go online at: www.recreationconnection.com and click on “MEMBERS ENTER HERE.”

Finally, I look forward to seeing many of you at the forum for SDCERA Board of Retirement retiree candidates on April 11th (see page 3 for more information).

Scheduled for 2016 – States were allowed to request waivers of ACA requirements, provided they offer alternative health plans.

Scheduled for 2017 – States could allow businesses with more than 100 employees to purchase insurance through the exchanges.

Scheduled for 2018 – A 40% excise tax against "Cadillac" health plan premiums in excess of $10,200 for individuals and $27,500 for families was required, increasing to $11,850 and $30,950, respectively for retirees and high-risk professionals (indefinitely delayed).

During December 2016, San Diego County retirement net assets increased $179 million, bringing year-to-date increases to $386.1 million and total assets to $10.7 billion. These figures represent a point in time. Retirement fund levels regularly cycle up and down with investment market cycles, and public retirement systems are long-term organizations with time to address those variations.

Errata: The March 2017 NETWORK reported average San Diego Region Social Security benefits to be $17,502. That figure should have been $12,271. We regret the error.
